

Welcome Home

POSTCARD, CIRCA 1914.

HENRY PITTOCK AT MULTNOMAH FALLS, CIRCA 1916.

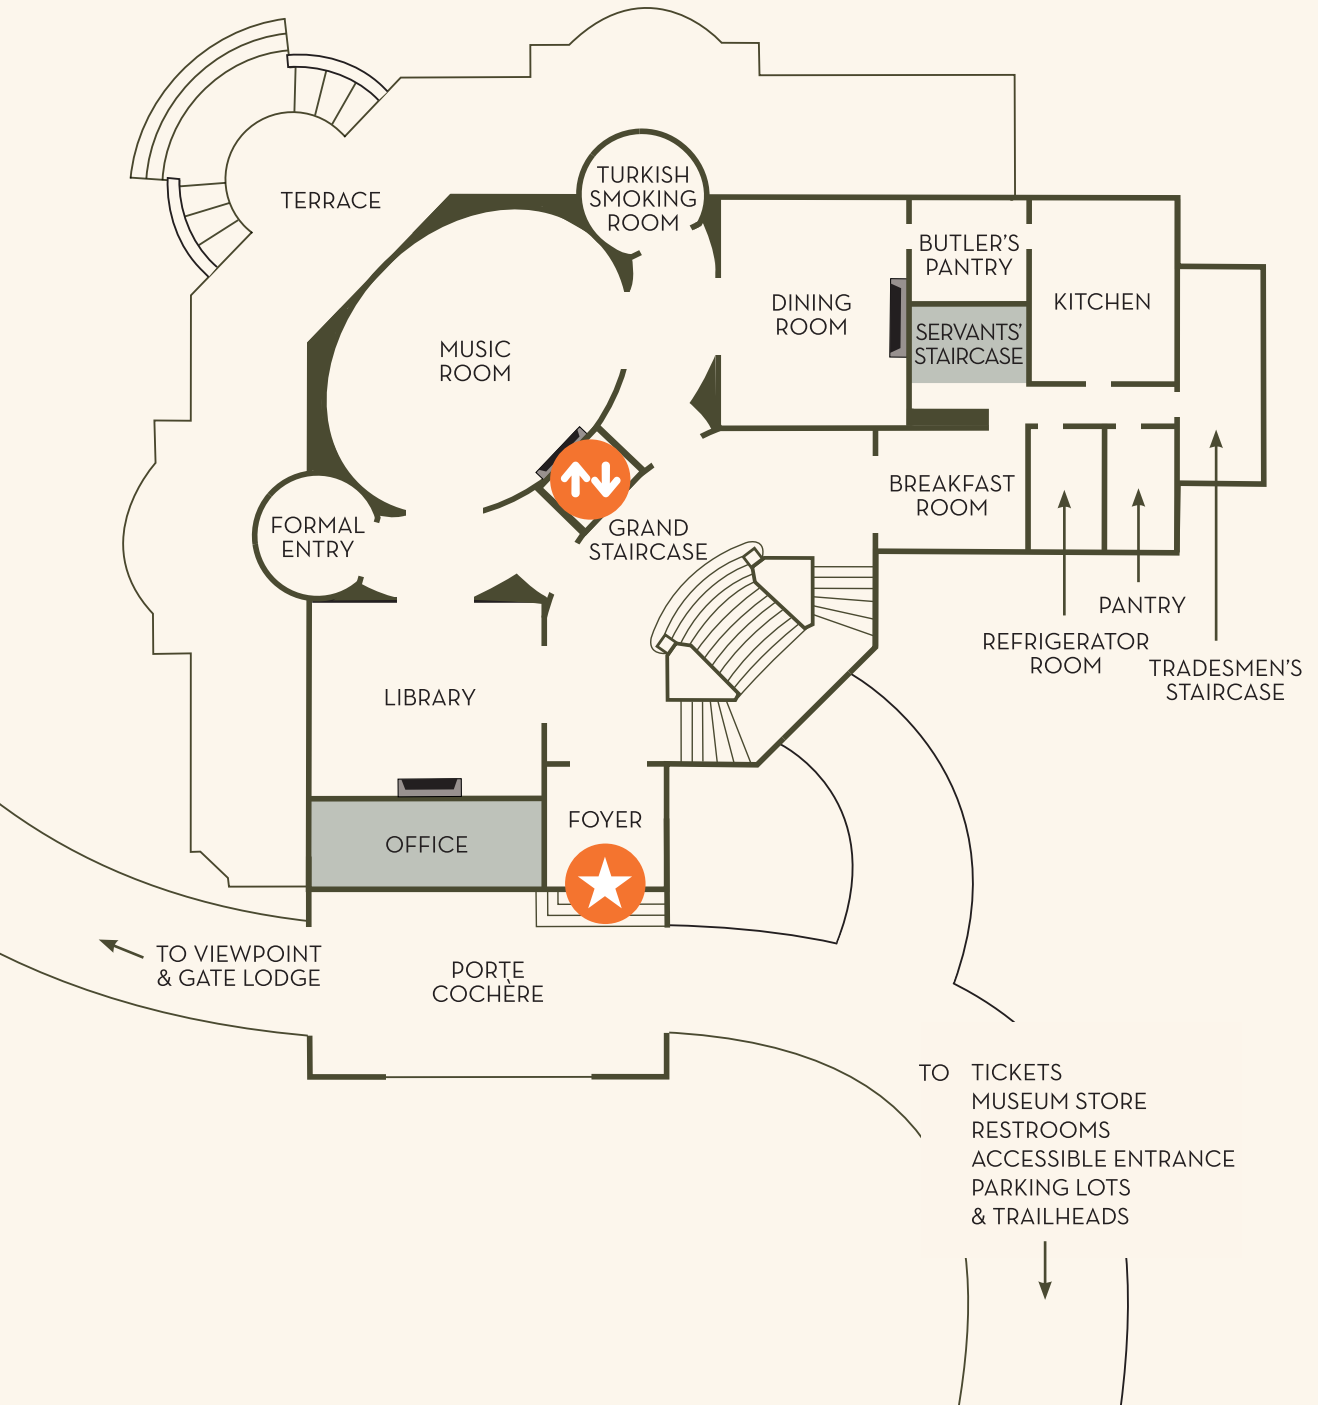

GEORGIANA PITTOCK IN THE MUSIC ROOM, CIRCA 1914.

Built in 1914, Pittock Mansion is full of the rich history of one of Portland's first families, the Pittocks. It's the perfect place to discover how Portland became what it is today.

Henry Pittock and future wife Georgiana Burton both crossed the Oregon Trail, separately, in the 1850s. Henry built his fortune as the publisher of The Oregonian newspaper, while Georgiana raised a family and funds for local charities. Together, the Pittocks helped transform Portland from small “stumptown” to bustling modern city.

Georgiana and Henry lived in Pittock Mansion until their deaths in 1918 and 1919. In 1958, the last family members moved out and the mansion suffered damage in the 1962 Columbus Day Storm. Portlanders launched a fundraising campaign to save it, and in 1965 a restored Pittock Mansion opened to the public.

1ST FLOOR

2ND FLOOR

ENTRANCE/EXIT

ACCESSIBLE
ENTRANCE/EXIT

ELEVATOR *

Operator required, ask staff for assistance*

WATER FOUNTAIN

MEN'S ROOM

LADIES' ROOM

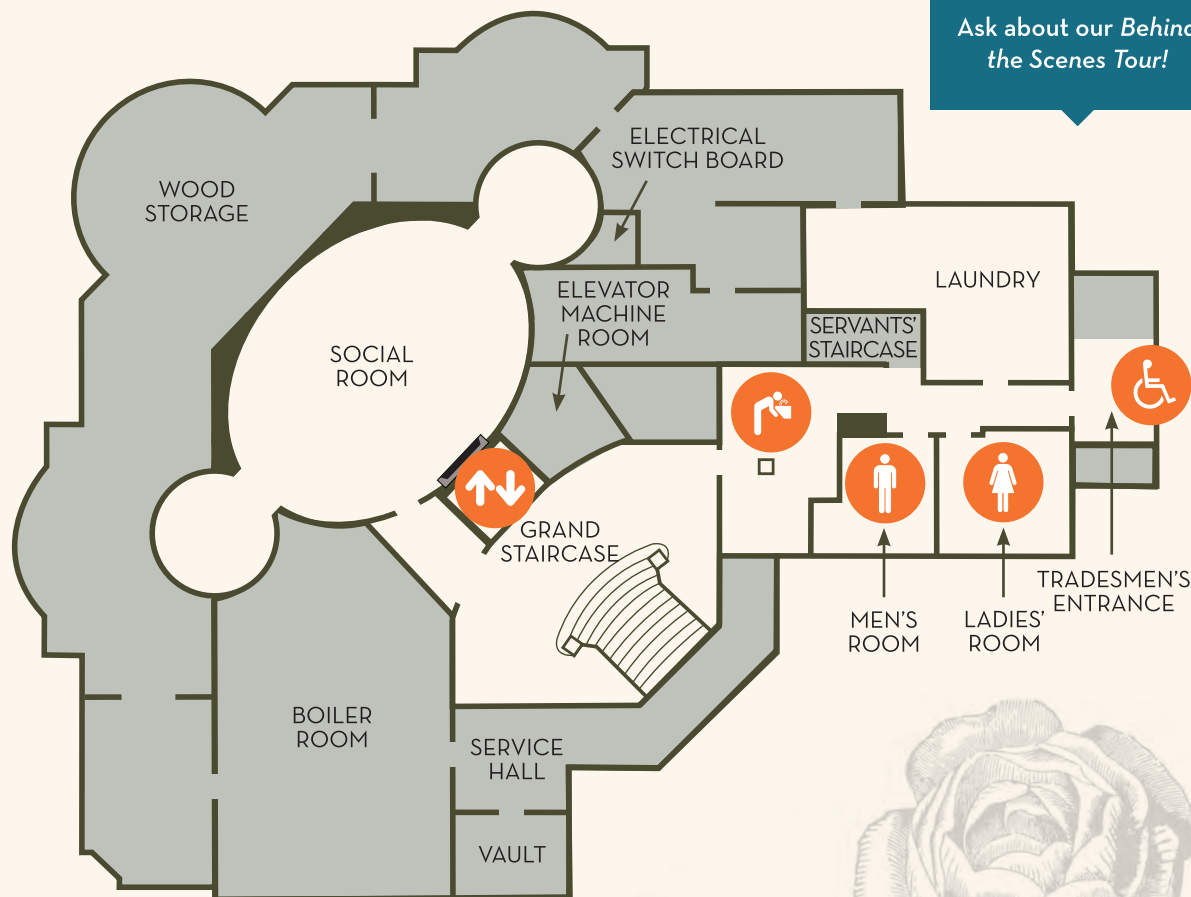

NO ENTRY
Staff only

BASEMENT

WANT TO EXPLORE
THE BASEMENT &
3RD FLOOR?

Ask about our Behind the Scenes Tour!

ENTRANCE/EXIT

ACCESSIBLE
ENTRANCE/EXIT

ELEVATOR *

*Operator required, ask staff for assistance

WATER FOUNTAIN

MEN'S ROOM

LADIES' ROOM

NO ENTRY
Staff only